Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☐ Responsive to communication(s) filed on ____.
- 2a) ☐ This action is FINAL. 2b) ☒ This action is non-final.
- 3) ☐ Since this application is in condition for allowance except for formal matters, prosecution as to the merits is closed in accordance with the practice under Ex parte Quayle, 1935 C.D. 11, 453 O.G. 213.

Disposition of Claims

- 6) ☐ Other: ____.

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. A series of singular dependent claims is permissible in which a dependent claim refers to a preceding claim which, in turn, refers to another preceding claim.

A claim which depends from a dependent claim should not be separated by any claim which does not also depend from said dependent claim. It should be kept in mind that a dependent claim may refer to any preceding independent claim. In general, applicant's sequence will not be changed. See MPEP § 608.01(n).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 2-4, 6, 7, 9 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.
4. With respect to Claims 2-4, 6, 7, 9 and 10: These claims depend from non-existent claims, therefore the examiner is unclear what the scope of these claims are and a lack of prior art rejection does not indicate that these claims are allowable.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

6. Claim 1, 5 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Wang et al.

(US 2002/0117405).

7. With respect to Claim 1: Wang discloses a method of supplying a product from a first party to a second party (see abstract) comprising:

- a. the first party providing a first portion of the product (manufacturing line, with primary packaging, Paragraphs 0019 and 0034);
- b. the first party providing a second portion of the product, the second portion having one of a plurality of decorative qualities (printing line, secondary packaging with package insert of the doctor and patient information, the insert and/or label being applied to the first portion of the product, Paragraph 0019 and 0034);
- c. the first party supplying a plurality of the second portions of the product to a distributor, the plurality of second portions including more than one of the plurality of decorative qualities, the first party shipping a first portion to the distributor after supplying a plurality of the second portions of the product to the distributor in a first compartment of a two-compartment box (see Paragraph 0019) and the distributor selecting one of the plurality of decorative second portions and packaging it in a box along with the first portion shipped from the manufacturer and supplying the boxed first and second portions to the second party (Wang discloses after the manufacturing line produces the product, and the printing line produces the labels, they are stored separately, then matched, packaged together, then shipped to the customer, See Paragraphs 0034 and 0036).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

8. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

9. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

10. Claim 8 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wang et al. (US 2002/0117405).

11. With respect to Claim 8: Wang discloses a method of supplying a product from a manufacturer to a supplier, the first party supplying a plurality of the second portions of the product to a distributor, the plurality of second portions including more than one of the plurality of decorative qualities, the first party shipping a first portion to the distributor after supplying a plurality of the second portions of the product to the distributor in a first compartment of a two-compartment box (see Paragraph 0019) and the distributor selecting one of the plurality of decorative second portions and packaging it in a box along with the first portion shipped from the manufacturer and supplying the boxed first and second portions to the second party (Wang discloses after the manufacturing line produces the product, and the printing line produces the labels, they are stored separately, then matched, packaged together, then shipped to the customer, See Paragraphs 0034 and 0036).

12. Wang, however fails to disclose the product being a pet bed where the first portion is a pillow and the second portion is a decorative cover for the pillow. However, the specific type of product and covering is deemed to be nonfunctional descriptive material and is not functionally involved in the steps recited and is drawn to an intended use of the method of supplying a product. All steps would be performed the same regardless of what type of product is being manufactured or supplied, distributed and shipped. Thus this descriptive material will not distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art in terms of patentability, see In re Gulack, 703 F.2d 1381, 1385, 217 USPQ 401, 404 (Fed.Cir.1983); In re Lowry, 32 F.3d 1579, 32 USPQ2d 1031 (Fed. Cir. 1994).

Conclusion

13. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Barad et al. (6,206,750) discloses the use of personalizing or customizing dolls with accessories and specialized inserts.
